

Ieri il summit tra la proprietà e gli istituti di credito. Ferrari: «Incontro incoraggiante»

Battistero, le banche prendono tempo

La Cgil bacchetta gli industriali. E all'azienda: mantenga le promesse

Lavoratori in presidio «finché l'ultimo degli stagionali non sarà chiamato»

Per il futuro della Battistero e dei suoi trecento dipendenti l'attesa continua. Ieri l'ennesima giornata sul filo del rasoio: da una parte l'assemblea sindacale dei lavoratori, dall'altra l'incontro tra la proprietà e le banche. Tutta l'attenzione, ovviamente, è rimasta puntata sul vertice coordinato dalla Provincia cominciato nel primo pomeriggio e terminato in serata. Sull'esito dell'incontro nulla è trapelato salvo una breve comunicazione da parte dell'amministrazione provinciale: «Unicredit» è scritto nella nota - capofila degli istituti di credito, ha richiesto ulteriori informazioni alla proprietà per avere gli elementi necessari a giungere ad una conclusione. Approfondimenti che verranno effettuati nel fine settimana. Il tavolo resterà dunque aperto per verificare e sostenere ogni possibile soluzione. «È stato un incontro incoraggiante, si può andare avanti», ha commentato l'assessore Pier Luigi Ferrari. «L'incontro è un fatto positivo: hanno dichiarato congiuntamente il sindaco di Parma Pietro Vignali e il presidente della Provincia Vincenzo Bernazzoli e apre uno spiraglio alla soluzione di una difficile situazione che coinvolge circa 300 famiglie e una delle aziende più significative del nostro territorio. Una soluzione che speriamo vicina e positiva».

Ma la soluzione, a quanto pare, ancora non c'è.

Finché non si trova una soluzione...

lavoratori non mollano. Anche ieri è stata giornata di presidio, al fianco degli operai è rimasto Luca Ferrari (Flai Cgil): «Noi non ci spostiamo finché anche l'ultimo degli stagionali non sarà chiamato».

Nel corso dell'assemblea sindacale dei lavoratori, ieri, «sono stati riassunti tutti i passaggi della delicatissima vertenza» che giovedì ha avuto un'improvvisa accelerazione. Dalla conferenza stampa di sabato scorso infatti è partita «una mobilitazione straordinaria, come non se ne vedeva da tempo. Tre presidi in due

Mobilizzazione Centinaia di lavoratori della Battistero, giovedì, hanno presidiato il palazzo della Provincia in attesa di avere notizie sul futuro dell'azienda giorni non erano semplici da organizzare, va avanti Luca Ferrari - ma anche questo lavoro ha reso possibile incontrare il capigruppo del consiglio comunale di Parma, riattivare il tavolo istituzionale coordinato dalla Provincia, attivare Bernazzoli e Vignali coinvolti in prima persona nel rapporto con le banche, interessare la Regione e l'assessorato competente ed infine incontrare la proprietà». Insieme ai ringraziamenti alle istituzioni, però, i sindacati lanciano un avvertimento al patron dell'azienda dolciaria: «Ha preso degli impegni al tavolo istituzionale e davanti ai rappresentanti dei lavoratori che dovrà mantenere. Noi siamo stati chiari: o tutti lavorano assieme per sostenere la Battistero o la reazione da parte nostra sarà durissima». Infine la stoccata al «mondo industriale di Parma che ha nei fatti ancora una volta dimostrato di disinteressarsi totalmente della Battistero». I lavoratori, dunque, continueranno a presidiare l'azienda «per dimostrare quanto tengono alla loro attività» e a «mantenere il fiato sul collo della proprietà fino a che verrà assunta l'ultima stagionale in attesa di chiamata».

Il problema della Battistero, che vanta un portafoglio di commesse importanti, è la liquidità. Le banche sembrerebbero disposte a concedere credito, ma in cambio di un aumento di capitale che la ditta ha deliberato da alcuni mesi, senza passare dalle parole ai fatti. L'ipotesi di accordo è di un milione e mezzo di euro subito e altri quattro entro la fine dell'anno. E quanto i vertici dell'azienda hanno promesso per spronare le banche ad aprire il rubinetto e concedere il credito necessario a continuare l'attività. L'incontro di ieri potrebbe riaccendere le speranze.

Presidio degli operai

Battistero, l'Unicredit prende tempo

Ieri a Bologna il tavolo tra l'azienda dolciaria e le banche, coordinato dalla Provincia. L'esito si saprà la prossima settimana. Intanto i lavoratori continuano il presidio. E la Cgil avverte l'azienda: «Mantenga le promesse».
